SECTION A

Q1. Read the passage and answer the questions that follows: (5m)

Enid Blyton was born in London, in 1897. By the time she died, she had written over six hundred books and had them translated into seventy languages. Since her first book, CHILD WHISPERS, appeared in 1922, generations of children all over the world have enjoyed her many stories.

Enid Blyton was a trained teacher. She opened her own school but eventually gave up teaching to devote her more time to writing children's literature. In 1938, The Secret Island was published. It was the first of many full length adventure stories. The most popular of these series have been The Famous Five, The Secret Seven and Barney Mystery books. Her school series became extremely popular.

In 1945, The Famous Five series of books was serialized for television. This encouraged even more children to read her books.

Enid Blyton wrote many books for younger children. These include The Faraway tree, The wishing chair and Noddy.

Enid Blyton died in 1968. She had dedicated her working life to writing books that children would enjoy reading.

For over eighty years, the stories written by Enid Blyton have encouraged many children to become enthusiastic readers. They become familiar with the characters in a series and are keen to follow them in the next book. To find out more, pick up an Enid Blyton book.
